University Registration Grows; Final Total To Exceed 10,500

by John Day

PRELIMINARY University enrollment figures indicate a four to five percent increase over last year's registration total, and show that the University remains the second largest school in the Washington metropolitan area.

During the initial registration period the University enrolled 10,500 compared with last year's total figure of 10,000.

Though no figures were available, the University of Maryland will remain the area's largest school. Freshman enrollment there was beyond expectation and students are being housed in trailers as well as dormitories and fraternity houses.

Third-ranking area school, American University, has a total enrollment of 8,000. Stafford H. Cassel, American Univ. vice president, said that twice as many undergraduate applications were received this year. The school tightened entrance requirements and admitted an undergraduate class of 2,200.

Georgetown University reports a tentative drop in overall registration from last year's total of 6,100 to 5,730 this year.

Howard University has an enrollment of a little over 5,100 and plans an increase of over 400 from last year's 4,800 total.

Speaking of the University's registration, Frederick Houser, registrar, said, "It went fairly well, much smoother than in the spring. We didn't have the line into the gym as we did last year." Mr. Houser added, "More familiarity with forms is necessary by faculty, administration and students."

Registration in the University's Junior College shows the greatest increase. Approximately 1,800 registered in the Junior College, an increase of 6 percent over last year's 1,228 total.

Columbia College enrollment, both full and part-time students, is up slightly—1,175-80 registered compared to last year's 1,000.

Within the School of Engineering, 1,123 students are registered, an increase of two students over last year. Though undergraduate enrollment is down eight percent, the freshman class is 40 percent larger than last year's with full time students increasing from 62 percent to 83 percent.

SC Approves Temporary Recognition For New Party

by Stanley Rensberg

THE STUDENT COUNCIL unanimously granted probationary recognition to the Student Committee for Better Politics to form a second political party.

Within two months the party must present a constitution, an adviser and a list of members for Council approval.

The need for a second party became obvious in the spring Student Council election. Only one organized party presented a slate of candidates. All other candidates ran independently.

The Colonial Campus Party and many of these independents pledged themselves to aid in the formation of a second party.

Following their recognition the Student Committee for Better Politics held a meeting. One member said that the primary purpose was to weld the nucleus around which the new party will be formed. Organization plans for the all-campus meeting Oct. 7 in Government 1 immediately following the pep rally were formed.

Approved Officers

A preliminary slate of officers for the first meeting was approved. Bob Aleshire was selected temporary chairman. Stanley Rensberg and Phil Taylor head the program committee, Lynn Fischer and Bill Carter lead the membership committee, and Joe Iseman, Mike Clark and Tom

VMI Game

Students will be admitted to the GW-VMI football game 8:30 Friday night at Griffith Stadium upon presentation of ticket "B" in their student activities booklet. The Stadium is at the corner of Seventh st. and Florida ave.

Councilmen Nullify Summer Absences

THE STUDENT COUNCIL voted not to include a member's summer attendance record as part of the five absences allowed him during his term of office.

A further ruling held that any member who has accumulated the five absences will automatically be brought up for impeachment or censure. In the past, a member violating attendance regulations was liable for censure or impeachment but had to wait for his case to specifically be brought up for consideration.

Although summer attendance records will not count in the total absences, the motion did state that this record may be "brought to bear" for or against the member up for impeachment.

Precedent

According to President Dave Aaronson, the new ruling will be a precedent for future Councils. He further made it clear that it is the Council's obligation to decide whether or not to censure a person and that the new ruling will facilitate this procedure.

Bill Stuart, who was proxying for Pete Wasilewski, originally proposed that the summer record be totally disregarded. He said that responsible proxies are difficult to find at any time and that during the summer they are almost impossible to obtain.

Proposed Amendment

Mr. Aaronson requested that an amendment be made stating that no action on the basis of the summer record be taken, unless a member's future attendance warranted it. He pointed out that Mr. Stuart's "blanket" motion against considering past action violated the Articles of Student Government, the constitution of the Council. "If a majority vote is allowed to overturn the Articles, the meaning of this document will be destroyed," he said.

Those who spoke in favor of Mr. Stuart's proposal argued that summer work or previous engagements often conflicted with Council meetings. Roger Stuart, vice president of the Council, said that a person could be working for student activities even though he missed some meetings.

Mr. Aaronson argued that since post cards were sent to members about meetings, it was their duty to attend or to send a proxy. He also feared a dangerous precedent would be started if no action were taken.

In other action the Council voted to spend $55 to pay for last year's Student Council honor keys.

Student Council Summer Attendance

Dave Aaronson	no absences
Roger Stuart	3 absences
Lynda D'Andre	2 absences
Betty Robinson	2 absences
Charlie Mays	no absences
Anne Haug	no absences
Vicki Allant	2 absences
Cookie Fischgrund	5 absences
Dick Fischman	3 1/2 absences
Ben Finkle	11 absences
Alan Hawkins	no absences
John Day	2 absences
Pete Wasilewski	7 absences
Cameron Pippitt	no absences
Harold Boerlin	2 absences
Al Capp	6 absences
Alex Leeds	5 absences
Marvin Stern	2 absences

By mistake the keys were never picked up and the bill was not paid.

The Council also appointed Charlie Mays, Alan May, Roger Stuart and John Day as a committee to consider a "package deal" advertising plan for all student activities. The Council hopes this deal would prevent bothering merchants several times a year for advertising in the various University publications.

Fellowships Available To Senior Class

THE WOODROW WILSON National Fellowship Foundation announced its 1960-1961 program, offering 1,000 fellowships in the humanities and social and natural science to undergraduates in their senior year.

The Foundation's program encourages seniors to undertake graduate work in order to enter the college teaching profession.

Students receiving a Woodrow Wilson National fellowship are paid $1,500 plus tuition and dependency allowances for a year of graduate study at a university of their choice in the United States or Canada.

Candidates may not file applications directly, but will be sent application forms after personal nomination by a faculty member. Any student expecting to graduate in the spring of 1961 may learn more details by consulting the departmental chairman in his major field, or the local representative of the Foundation, Professor Richard W. Stephens of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology for further details.

Nominations

A student may request that a faculty member nominate him, or a faculty member familiar with the student's work may write a recommendation on his own initiative. These should be sent to Professor Richard Bardolph, Women's College of the University of North Carolina, Box 5095, Greensboro, North Carolina, foundation regional chairman.

Deadline for receiving nominations for the 1961 fellowships is October 31. Application blanks will be mailed directly to the student on receipt of a faculty nomination.

AN EXHIBITION of photographs by HATCHET photographer James R. Black is being shown in Lisner library through October 23.

The 57 pictures on exhibit deal 80 percent with life on campus and 20 percent with sports events and news stories in and around Washington and New York.

In the near future the HATCHET will run a review of the exhibit. The review will be written by the University's new instructor in pictorial editing, Thomas Smith, who is a picture editor for the National Geographic magazine.

Mr. Black has received several awards for his work in the past. Two years ago he received the Look magazine award for the best sports shot of the year and last year he placed fifth in the University of Missouri's photo-journalism contest.

He has also received the Washington Newspaper Guild's first prize in sports photography. Mr. Black has been a United Press International photographer but now concentrates his time between studies here at the University and free lance work which includes the HATCHET, the Cherry Tree, and University public relations office and a host of other outlets.

Sororities Bid 128 Women; Fall Rush Draws To Close

• A RECORD NUMBER of 128 girls accepted formal bids from the 12 campus sororities at the final Panhellenic Post Office.

Bidding climaxed the ten-day formal rush schedule which began when 288 girls signed up to attend open house Saturday and Sunday, September 17 and 18. Rushes attended eight, hour-long parties Tuesday and Wednesday, September 20 and 21, and five parties September 22 and 23. The girls narrowed down their choices to three sororities for the teas held on Sunday, September 25.

Final parties took place last Tuesday when the rushees attended two 1½-hour preferential parties. Informal rush began yesterday. Any girl interested may sign up at the office of the director of women's activities.

Three sororities, Chi Omega, Delta Gamma and Kappa Kappa Gamma, received the quota set by Panhellenic of 14 pledges. Alpha Epsilon Phi reached its special quota of 16.

Dean's List

• FIFTY-ONE students earned a place on the Junior College Dean's List for the 1960 spring semester.

To be named to the Dean's List, a student must earn a QPI of 3.5 or better while taking at least 15 credit hours in the University's Junior College.

On the list were William Arnebeck, Frederick Bode, Maria Bode, John Boettger, Stephen Brown, Nan Byrd, Dorothy Carlson, William Daly, Nancy Davidson, Thomas Dimond, David Dunner, Hanna El Asal, Irwin Feldman, Bette Ford, Alpheus Forsman, Paula Fortucci, Philip Gardner, Sharon Glenn, Barry Gould, Philip Gross and John Hann.

Others named were Leslie Hubbard, Judith Karpowski, Nancy Keim, Arlene Kervorkian, Estelle Luber, Harold Manley, Rhoda Miller, Stephen Newman, Linda Nusbaum, Carol Nyquist, Joyce Ormsby, William Parks, Stephanie Patchen, Kaleen Peck, Sandra Price, Martin Reece, Elizabeth Reid, Stanley Rensberg, Gerard Rodgers and Philip Ryan.

The ten other students who made the Dean's List were: Elaine Tanenbaum, Helmut Thies, Jorge Uribe, Carole Verela, Thomas Wagner, George Wilner, Eileen Wishner, Archibald Woodruff, Melinda Young and Victoria Young.

DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: 'Tis better to have loved and lost than to have spent the whole weekend studying.

Dear Dr. Frood: My roommate is a good guy, but there's one thing about him I can't stand. He wears button-down collars but never buttons the little lapel buttons. Why is this?

Clothes Conscious

DEAR CLOTHES: Don't let this worry you. It's just that his thumbs are too big.

Dear Dr. Frood: Once and for all—is it right or wrong for a man to marry a girl for her money?

Righteous

DEAR RIGHTEOUS: Nowadays this isn't simply a matter of right or wrong. There are the tax angles to consider.

Dear Dr. Frood: I don't understand my boy friend. When we are all alone and the moon is full, he tells me he worships me. But during the day, he crosses the street when he sees me coming. What is wrong?

Lovelorn

DEAR LOVELORN: Did it ever occur to you that he may be a werewolf?

Dear Dr. Frood: The other day my roommate and I had an argument about the difference between traditional art and modern art. What, in your opinion, is the basic difference between these two forms?

Art Major

DEAR ART: The examples above should settle your argument. The portrait at left is traditional. The artist has drawn Lincoln as he actually appeared. The portrait at right is modern. As you can see, the modern artist has drawn Lincoln's great-great-grandson.

Dear Dr. Frood: My favorite brand is Lucky Strike. But unfortunately I am left-handed. Why doesn't Lucky Strike come out with cigarettes for left-handed people?

Lefty

DEAR LEFTY: Left-handed Luckies are available. Simply ask for "Left-handed Luckies." They come in a white pack with a red bull's-eye. The only difference between these and ordinary Luckies is that you must always smoke them while facing a mirror.

"LUCKIES ARE BETTER THAN MONEY," says Dr. Frood (who gets paid in Luckies). It's a fact that college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. This cigarette is all cigarette—the cigarette that still tastes great. Try a pack today—it's the only thing you and Dr. Frood will ever have in common.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

Boosters Feature New Hoop For Buff Gridders' Entrance

• UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL PLAYERS will enter games through a hoop for the remainder of the season as one of the Colonial Boosters new features for the 1960-1961 season.

The hoop was made by Harold Boerlin, School of Engineering Student Council representative.

Another sports season highlight is the Booster poster contests. The first will be held for the Virginia Military Institute game this Friday.

"Beat the Keydets" pep rally Friday at noon and a car cavalcade will spark the series of annual Booster contests.

Each year the Colonial Boosters promote school spirit and interest in athletic events by awarding trophies to outstanding participating groups on campus. Groups are judged by the number of points earned during the year for the various Booster events.

Points for this year's car cavalcade will be awarded as follows: first place, 40 points; second place, 35 points; third place 30 points. (Cars are judged on originality, appropriateness of theme and craftsmanship.) A maximum of 10 points in each of the three judging categories can also be earned from each of the three judges.

Every organization represented at a pep rally receives 15 points. A 50-point bonus is awarded for attending all the rallies. Organization membership points will be awarded on a percentage basis with a bonus of 25 points for 100 percent attendance.

Colonial Boosters also sponsor the George and Martha Washington contests. The gridiron Washingtons will be unmasked at Homecoming and the basketball couple will be unmasked at Panhel Sing.

Booster membership entitles the owner to two seats on the fifty-yard line at football games and center court seats at basketball games. Booster members are given ribbons, megaphones and cheer cards at games.

Combo Hits Goal With 1000 Sales

• CAMPUS COMBO has reached the 1000 sales mark for the first time in its seven-year history.

Selling a total of 1,050 Combos in the first week and a half, Co-chairmen Jack Baller and Joe Iseman said that they hope to sell the remaining 50 Combos of the 1100 printed in the four days left before the termination of sales this Friday at 1 p.m.

The sales drive, which has already sold 170 more Campus Combos than last year's drive, is still progressing in the lobby of the Student Union between 8 and 9 in the morning, at lunch hour and between 5 and 6 in the evening.

Thirty Students Join Debate Club

• THIRTY NEW STUDENTS joined nine of last year's University debaters at the first fall meeting of the Enosinian Debate Society.

"With the showing of new talent, plus the strength of last year's returning veterans, the debate team can look forward to a very successful year," said Coach George Henigan.

Enosinian Debate Society President Bill Daly welcomed the new debaters and introduced this year's officers: Molly Harper, vice president; Sue Carter, secretary; and Bob Aleshire, treasurer. Other "veterans" who will debate this term are Bill Stuart, Dave Aaronson, Al Capp, Stan Remberg and Martin Hertz.

The debaters are coached by Mr. Henigan, Edwin Stevens and Henry Krebs.

The Debate Society has scheduled orientation programs for Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 2:30 in Studio B of Lisner auditorium. These programs acquaint new debaters with college debate techniques.

All interested persons should contact the debate office in Room 1 of Lisner auditorium.

Bipartisan Politics

• A MULTI-PARTY POLITICAL system is essential on any university campus which hopes to bring representative student government to its student body. This multi-party system is best if it is bipartisan.

This year the Student Committee for Better Politics, under the leadership of Bob Aleshire, has formed with the hopes that it will be able to represent the entire student body and be able to take a place beside the Colonial Campus Party. Such a bipartisan system as this will be able to serve as a true sounding-board for campus politics. With the organization of the SCBP, Dave Aaronson, president of the Student Council and one of the eight independents who triumphed in last year's Council elections, has seen his platform plank urging the re-birth of a two party system at the University start to bear fruit.

Two years ago the University recognized the first political party on campus in recent years. This party, the Colonial Campus Party, overwhelmed the Inde-ans, a party which formed shortly after the CCP, in the 1959 Student Council elections.

When the Inde-ans did not form again last year, the CCP remained the only student political organization to propose a united slate of candidates to the student electorate. It propelled eight of its eighteen nominees unopposed into Council positions. However, of the ten CCP who faced opposition from independent candidates, only two were able to win Council posts.

This election was supposed to have proven that the student body was unwilling to recognize a "vested-interests group". This claim is too harsh. The results of last year's election seemed to indicate that if the students could not find a party in which they could feel at home, they would rather elect candidates who did not stand on a common party platform.

With respect to the ideas gleaned from last year's elections and the omnipresent recognition of the value of bipartisan politics, we hope that this embryonic political group, the SCBP, may soon be part of a strong and active two party system in which all students may be able to voice their political views.

Leo's Features Sandwiches For Hungry Profs, Students

by John Day

• IF THERE WERENT a Leo's: We would have all starved to death years ago. All the girls would have better figures.

The football players wouldn't win as many games. There'd be no more BLT and roast beef sandwich addicts among us.

Luckily there is a Leo's and surprisingly even a Leo to run it. Leo and Ray Ambrogio opened their grocery store and sandwich shop in 1945 and in the years since, it has become a campus institution.

Snuggled between the Geography Department and the Delta Gamma rooms, the store's front window is the prime advertising space on campus. Not only do most University student pass by its poster fed window everyday, but the news is also free from Business Office censorship.

Leo's crowning glory is beyond the front window, past the pocket books and groceries. It shines from behind the counter in the rear where the biggest and best 20-cent sandwiches in the nation's capital feed a majority of the University's expanding population, as well as countless professors and other campus fixtures.

Next to the sandwiches the best thing about Leo's is the modern cracker barrel atmosphere provided by Leo and Ray. Anyone who has heard them discuss and compare baseball today and back when it really was baseball will have to agree there was and never will be anyone like the Babe.

Ray explained about University students, "They are very good. Freshmen usually come in and older students introduce them to us."

"We usually have a few more students before exams. There's more activity. The students seem to roam around at night more before exams."

But in spite of the flunk-out rate, Leo's will always have a large student clientele. No changes in the shop are proposed.

Engineering Dean Announces Plans For Metrology Institute

• ESTABLISHMENT of the Institute of Measurement Society as a new approach to the problem of an exploding technology was outlined by Dr. Martin Mason, dean of the School of Engineering, when he spoke to the Instrument Society of America last week.

This approach to scientific knowledge is based on the concept that "only when you can measure a thing and express it in numbers do you know something about it," Dean Mason said.

Because of the new emphasis being placed on minute measurements in industry, Dean Mason added, an academic center has been established for the first time to train specialists in this basic science.

The Martin Company of Baltimore, Maryland, gave the first grant to make this center possible. Additional funds will be forthcoming over a four-year period to help sustain the center, according to Mr. A. L. Varrieur, vice-president and general manager of the Martin Company's Baltimore division.

Overloading of the consulting facilities of the National Bureau of Standards by increasing industrial requests moved electronics and space industries to offer money, equipment and their own employees in support of an academic center for metrology, the measurement science field.

The importance of precision measurement is highlighted by an example of a moon rocket with a millionth of an inch error. One millionth of an inch spells the difference between a successful probe and a complete miss.

Nikita Khrushchev has called for increased emphasis on metrology during the next seven years. Last year he stated that "the design and construction of measuring instruments represents an indispensable element of technical progress; further technical progress in the national economy therefore dictates a considerable rise in the development level of measuring techniques and the expansion of metrological work."

Drama Workshop Plans One-act Plays

• THE UNIVERSITY'S Drama Workshop plans to produce three or four one-act "arena" stage plays and hear guest speakers this year.

The workshop, under guidance of Drama Activities' Director Edward Ferero, was originated four years ago to give students interested in drama more experience than University productions offer.

The first one-act play will be directed by Bernie Passletiner, a former member of National Collegiate Players now studying for his Master's degree at Catholic University.

The second play will be directed by Edna Clark, former National College Player at the University.

Discussion and casting for the first Workshop production will be Monday, October 10 at 6:45 pm in Studio A of Lisner auditorium.

Students To Select Football Queen

• NAMES OF HOMECOMING Queen candidates must be submitted to the Office of Women's Activities no later than noon, October 14. An entrance fee of $12 plus two entrance forms given to all organizations must accompany the contestant's name.

The judging tea will be held Monday, October 31, from 2 to 5 pm at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity house. On the following two days the student body will vote to select the Queen from those finalists chosen by the judges.

This year, for the first time, the Queen will be crowned at the Homecoming musical program Thursday, November 3, instead of Saturday night at the Homecoming Ball. The Homecoming co-chairmen felt that the Queen should reign over the entire weekend not just two hours at the dance.

To be eligible for Homecoming queen, a girl must have taken 15 credit hours at the University, have a QPI of at least 2.0 and be taking a minimum of nine credit hours.

'Dee' Assumes Activities Post

Dee Eriksson

• MRS. "DEE" ERIKSSON, nee Dee McDonald, is the new Student Activities Assistant, replacing Mrs. Ann Raybold who held the job since June 1.

Mrs. Eriksson was the former secretary to Dr. Virginia Kirkbride, director of Women's Activities. Mrs. Raybold officially left September 30 for a position with the Federal Reserve Board.

The Student Activities Assistant who has her office on the first floor of the Student Activities building has an administrative job from 9 am to 5 pm. The job entails informing students about any activity or organization on campus, or, to quote Mrs. Raybold, "know everything."

Other duties of the Activities Assistant include running the mimeograph machine, acting as secretary to the Student Life Committee, planning the University summer recreation program and setting up the yearly Student Union Calendar. "It's really a 'girl Friday' or catch-all job," said the departing Mrs. Raybold.

Votes By Kennedy Lack Religious Bias

• SENATOR JOHN F. KENNEDY, Democratic candidate for President, has shown no indication of favoring Catholicism in his record, according to Dr. Clifton Olmstead, executive director of the Department of Religion.

"So much so," added Professor Hugh L. LeBlanc, assistant professor of political science, "that he may even lean over backwards in his attempt not to favor his religion."

"Could a Roman Catholic president keep his religious convictions divorced from his duties as Chief Executive?" was the query asked by a HATCHET reporter.

Seeming to affirm this, Senator Kennedy voted against the Morse Amendment to the Aid-to-Education Act, which was to have provided public loans for the construction of parochial schools. He was the only Senator of his faith to do so.

Both faculty members agreed that Kennedy's Catholicism would be an issue in 1960 as it was in the 1928 campaign when Catholic Al Smith was defeated by Herbert Hoover. However, Professor LeBlanc maintained that the Senator's religious faith would be an asset rather than a political hindrance.

"As Democrats defected from their party in the elections of '52-'56 to elect Eisenhower," Professor LeBlanc believes that "those Catholics who would defect from their ranks on the basis of the religious issue may swell the Democratic vote."

These Catholic voters are located in the still critical areas (for the Democrats) such as the urban centers of the Southwest and Midwest. There is a large undecided vote in these areas which has become "highly volatile" because of the closeness of the race, said Professor LeBlanc.

Another positive factor in Kennedy's Catholicism is that "although Vice-President Nixon can charge that the policy of the Dem-

Charlie Byrd Tickets

• THE CHARLIE BYRD ticket sale originally scheduled for Monday has been postponed until Wednesday because of a delay in printing. From Wednesday until the night of the concert, Friday, October 14, tickets will be on sale every weekday morning, lunch hour and evening in the lobby of the Student Union. The price of each ticket is $1.50, or free with Campus Combo. Those students who do have Campus Combo must turn in their Combo stubs in exchange for tickets; the stubs alone will not be sufficient for admission.

ocrats would lead to ultimate surrender to Communism, it would be difficult to apply this issue against Kennedy himself," Professor LeBlanc continued.

The nature of Catholicism strives for the unification of Church and State in countries where it is the prominent religion. But Dr. Olmstead noted that Catholicism expresses itself differently in different nations so that the Catholicism of Spain is alien to that of Ireland.

The outcome of the election both Dr. Olmstead and Professor LeBlanc believe will be very close. Professor LeBlanc added that if the attention were on domestic policy with which the Democrats have long been associated, Kennedy would likely be the man elected; however, he said, if the emphasis were on the international issue at the time the voters go to the polls Nixon would get the majority.

THE BLACK BAG

by Ronald Latimer

In the hope of stimulating mutual interest between the undergraduate school and the School of Medicine, this column will appear as regularly as is possible. Its aim is to inform the undergraduates on what the medical student is doing and also to invite the medical student to read the Hatchet regularly and thus, take an interest in the undergraduate school and its functions.

• THE 136TH OPENING assembly of the School of Medicine was held on Monday, Sept. 19 in Lisner auditorium. In addition to the President of the University, the dean and faculty of the Medical school, many distinguished visitors were present. These included Trustees of the University, the Assistant Secretary of Defense, the Surgeon Generals of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Each class of the School of Medicine was introduced to the guests and faculty. Some interesting facts about the new freshman class include: (1) they consist of 102 members of whom five are girls,

(2) they were selected from 1,233 applications, (3) they come from 64 different colleges and 85 members hold separate degrees, (4) the class includes one ordained minister, (5) one-fifth of the class is married, and (6) the largest state representation is from California with 17 members.

The guest of honor was Dr. Thomas Harrison Hunter, who is the dean of the School of Medicine at the University of Virginia and president of the Association of American Medical Colleges. The title of his address was "Selectivity." In his talk he advised freshmen not to become discouraged by the initial lack of challenge, but to bear with its absence until the fundamentals are learned.

He emphasized that it is a function of selectivity to separate important factors from the mundane, but this ability comes only from experience. He alluded to the present controversy over the length of medical education but made the point that this period is not lost nor wasted, but is a period of invaluable education and experience.

BOTTOM

by Hester Heale

Hester must start this week's bottomless column with words of congratulations to all newly accepted pledges of our fraternity and sorority systems. Congratulations pledges, and for all you old Greek people who have labored in George Washington's biannual circus, tis time to relax and rest on your laurels.

While I'm congratulating I might as well continue. Auntie is always glad to hear of her daughters getting their men (and visa versa). AEPH is proud to announce the engagement of three of its members. Paula Pascal to Sheldon Levine, Penny Kramer to Jerry Rosenthal and Alum Rhoda Ezrin to Joe Ganz. Hester is proud too, girls.

Equally as enjoyable is the male angle of the great game of our times, those having been pinned recently include AEPH's Marv Singman to Roberta Raine and Hal Tomlin to Barbara Hess.

A note. I bought a Combo and I still don't have a date for Homecoming. I'm beginning to worry.

A few more tid-bits. This past Saturday night, while I was walking down 'G' St., someone came up to me and asked me "Had I seen JOE." I told him I hadn't but that if I ran into him I would be glad to relay any message. A little further down the street and a half hour later (my old age doesn't permit me to walk very fast) I met Joe and he told me to go to the SPE house and tell them that he had sent me. So I did and "Joe sent me" was indeed the password. I hobbled in (for no one can refuse a poor old lady seeking comfort) and saw a Roaring Twenties party in progress. (Just like old times for me.) Hiding in a corner were Peter "The Grip" Morehouse with ADPI Jean "Barker" Farley. There they were, talking to Art "Bongos" Howard and date Jean "The Queen" Ferrick. Watching for cops were Dan "The Man" Johnson with Theta Ann "The Widow" Nelson. At the back door paying off the third precinct was Tom "FBI" Billman and Pete "Kansas" Lapi. I joined the rest of the group sipping tea and coffee. One question, boys. Who was Eliot Ness?

"I then left the SPE House and ambled down the street again until I came to another wild party at the AEPH house, which by the way was decorated for the occasion. All decked out by this time were Jeff Young and Brother Barry. Attending the bar were Steve Milstein and Stu Littman. Their policy being "give a little, take a little."

By the end of the evening it seemed that they had to be taken away. Now boys you know it's better to give than receive. Tripping the lights fantastically were Aaron Knott with AEPH Ellen Garfield, and Stan Heckman with Laura Rauch. Seen tripping fantastically were Harvey Wertlieb, Bernie Karmel, and a host of others. Looking frantically for those tripping fantastically were AEPH's Linda Silverberg and T. C. Aronoff along with a host of others in similar situations. Just looking at everybody else tripping were Barry Blumberg and Linda Smith. Not caring to look or unable to look (Auntie couldn't tell) were Seth "Lethal" Rosen and Nikl Epstein.

Looking back over the whole situation, it was a night in which good times were had by all including your dear old Auntie Hester.

Book Exchange To End Friday

• THE FIRST STUDENT Council Book Exchange has ended its second week of "successful" book sales with over 250 textbooks sold, said Exchange Co-Chairman Cameron Pippitt.

Although no more books will be accepted this semester, the Exchange will continue to sell books until October 7. Mr. Pippitt pointed out that all checks will be sent by the end of this week.

The Student Council has decided to keep the Exchange on its present consignment plan, whereby students turn in their books and are paid by check at a later date.

Dr. Sizoo Points Out Need For Eternity Consciousness

• TWO ELEMENTAL FORCES, a consciousness of time and a consciousness of a world beyond time, lift man above the level of a brute and give him his credentials to the other world, said Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, professor of religion, at the semester's first chapel service.

Consciousness of time can have a profound influence on both the development of character and on man's creativity, according to Dr. Sizoo.

Dr. Sizoo, speaking of man's awareness of an eternity or world beyond time, referred to William

Wordsworth's lines, "The heart and home is in eternity and only there."

"The object of all chapel services," he continued, "is to put eternity into men's minds and contribute to a better understanding of ourselves."

"It is wonderful to live in a world of time, but it is more important to see the eternal purposes of God at work in society and in the world," Dr. Sizoo continued.

"It is your duty," he concluded, "to strike a balance between the world of time and the world beyond time."

WHAT TO DO TILL THE PSYCHIATRIST COMES

"Once upon a time at the University of Virginia there was a coed named, oddly enough, Virginia University who was handsome and kindly and intelligent and ingeniously constructed and majoring in psychology. Virginia went steady with a young man on campus named, oddly enough, Oddly Enough who was supple and fair and lithe and animated and majoring in phys ed.

Virginia and Oddly enjoyed a romance that was as idyllic as a summer day, as placid as a millpond. Never did they fight—never, never, never!—because Virginia, who was majoring in psychology, did not believe in fighting. "Fighting," she often said, "settles nothing. The scientific way is to look calmly for the cause of the friction."

So whenever she and Oddly were on the verge of a quarrel, she used to whip out a series of ink blot tests and they would discover the true underlying cause of their dispute and deal with it in an enlightened, dispassionate manner. Then, the irritant removed, their romance would resume its tranquil, serene, unruffled course.

After six months of this sedate liaison, Oddly was so bored he could spit. He loved Virginia well enough, but he also believed that people in love ought to fight now and then. "It opens the pores," he said. "And besides, it's so much fun making up afterwards."

But Virginia would not be provoked into a quarrel. One night Oddly tried very hard. "Hey," he said to her, "your nose looks like a banana, and your ears look like radar antenna, and your face looks like a pan of worms."

"My goodness, we're hostile tonight!" said Virginia cheerfully and whipped 120 Rorschach cards out of her reticule. "Come," she said, "let us examine your psychic apparatus."

Oddly tried again. "You're fat and dumb and disagreeable," he said, "and you'll be bald before you're thirty."

"Hmm," said Virginia thoughtfully and lit a cigarette. "This sounds like an anxiety neurosis with totemism, anagogic trauma, and a belt in the back."

"I hate you," said Oddly. "I hate your looks and your clothes and your toenails and your relatives and the cigarettes you smoke."

"Now, hold on, buster!" cried Virginia, her eyes crackling, her color mounting, her nostrils aflame. "Just keep a civil tongue in your stupid head when you talk about Marlboro! Nobody's knocking that filter, that flavor, that pack or flip-top box while there's breath in my body! It's a full-flavored smoke, it's a doozy, it's a dilly, it's a gas—and anybody who says a word against it gets this."

By "this" Virginia meant a series of combinations to the head and liver, which she now delivered to Oddly and turned on her heel and stormed away.

Oddly brought her down with a flying tackle. "I love you with all my heart," he said.

"And Marlboro?" said she.

"And Marlboro even more," said he.

And they kissed and plaited love knots in one another's hair and were married at Whitsuntide and smoked happily ever after.

Colonial Crew 'Chock Full' Of Experienced Performers

by Ron Goldwyn

AS FALL PRACTICE opens for the University's rowing team, a nucleus of experienced returnees brighten the prospects for the Buff's first intercollegiate crew victory.

The crew's volunteer coach, Chip Fawcett, reports that he has veterans at all but two of the eight positions, with eight or nine other undergraduates with only limited experience.

Rarely Last

GW has never won a race, but, paradoxically, has rarely finished last. The crew usually enters regattas with varying number of competitors. For example, in last year's season-ending "Dad" Vail regatta, with almost 20 shells entered, the Buff eight finished third in each of its two heats, with six college crews entered in each race.

Practice began Monday for about 20 hopefuls, with Fawcett expecting more for future workouts. Sessions will be held on a two-a-day basis, at 6:30 am and 5:30 pm, Monday through Thursday, plus a session Friday mornings. The team will work out the entire month of October, culminating with a practice race against the Navy Plebes at Annapolis in early November. The regular five-race program will be run in the spring.

Leading the returnees are Bill Glotzbach, bow; Lou Adamo, two; Fred Smith, three; Tom Edmondson, four; Ron Reeves, five; and either Mike Reynolds or Harvey Montgomery, stroke. Coxswain

Rich Penrod, a 125-pounder, is also back. The only weakness lies in the back of the shell, with no veterans at six and seven positions.

Among the top reserves are Jon Hagerty and Mendel Peterson, both sophomores, Mike Venuto, Tom Rogers and Stu Ross, as well as Bill Massey, Jay Morton and Bill Perazich, who rowed two years ago but not last spring.

Added Weight

Reeves is a tackle on the Colonials' football squad, while Rogers plays fullback. In previous years, the crew has lacked weight, but the addition of this pair and some other hefty athletes will serve to "beef up" the squad.

Reynolds, Montgomery, Peterson and Venuto have all rowed for four-time national schoolboy champion Washington-Lee of Arlington. Another man connected with the W-L crew, Assistant Coach Reed Whitten, will help Fawcett coach the Buffs after transferring to GW from Rensselaer.

doubtful as to whether or not he was coming here. Pete had already paid his entrance fee to Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pa., when he got the call from GW.

Pete sums up his attitude towards Coach Elias in this manner: "Coach Elias is here to get a job done. He's a man of business. We'd hate to let him down because we know he's not going to let us down. He's given me more confidence in myself than I've ever had before. He has faith in us. We're going to be tough as hell when he infuses some of his confidence into us."

"Elias has the personable kind of character necessary to inspire our football team. I had a tremendous desire to play during spring practice and now, after the William and Mary game, I want to play even harder than I ever have before."

Pete also had a comment on the support from the GW fans during a game. "It's not something you're consciously aware of. It's like listening to classical music while you study. There's a warm feeling there while it's going on in the background, but when it stops, you know it's not there anymore."

Pro Football

Pete Wasilewski may try his hand at pro football after he graduates from GW or he may decide to pursue a Master's degree in Geology, his major, with a concentration towards geophysics. We can certainly be sure that Pete will be as much of an asset to his chosen field as he has been to the George Washington University.

Colonials To Meet League Champs

• WHEN THE COLONIALS meet the Keydets of VMI, 8:30 this Friday night at Griffith Stadium, they will have to cope with the best quarterback in the entire Southern Conference in the person of Howie Dyer.

Dyer, a six-foot, 180-pound back from Scranton, Pa., led the Keydets to the Conference title last season and seems to be well on his way to repeating the same feat this year.

In his first two appearances this season, Dyer has passed for four touchdowns and picked up 124 yards on the ground. He is considered to be one of the best passers in the East. Pass defense has been a definite flaw thus far in the Colonial defense. The Buff held The Citadel to only 26 yards on the ground, and William and Mary to 75, but in both games, long passes crushed the GW defense.

The Keydets pose a large threat in the interior of their line. Both their guards and their center are proven, veteran performers and are tough, both on offense and defense. At the tackle slot, VMI shows a lack of experience and this will probably be the weakness Coach Elias will attempt to exploit. The Colonials ran line plunges off tackle with great success against The Citadel and will probably employ a similar strategy.

A glaring weakness on the VMI squad is team defense. In every game this year, their opponents have managed to rack up points, taking advantage of the defensive unit's "resting stage."

The Buff, on the other hand, has shown great promise on defense. With ends Andy Guida and Paul Munley putting consistent pressure on the passer and forcing the running plays to the inside, the Colonials have squelched any threat of a "wide open ball game."

some people unfairly hold of college football players.

The soft spoken, articulate senior has, in fact, availed himself of all facets of college life and enjoyed their benefits. Presently, Pete holds the office of Columbian College representative to the Student Council.

"I ran for office," Pete said, "because I felt that would round out my college education. There are many other aspects to college life other than scholastics and football. I wanted to find out what GW was like."

Aside from playing football, keeping his grades up, and his Student Council activity, Pete has also found time to be recreation co-chairman of Colonial Cruise, a member of Old Men, a member of the Colonial Campus Party, and president of Welling Hall, an office he has held since he was a sophomore.

"Time, or the lack of it, may be a problem," Pete feels, "but the more time you have to waste, the less you get accomplished. I've learned to discipline myself so that I can get everything done. This self-discipline comes with maturity and it's a hard thing to orient yourself to, but it's necessary and it has to be done."

President

Speaking as President of Welling Hall, Pete is sometimes disappointed by the derogatory references to the guys who live in Welling. "We're just as much a part of the University as anyone else," Pete states. "And we can take the kidding that we get, but when the intent becomes malicious, it's very unpleasant. Ignorance is the only reason people call us animals."

"The University pays for our education and we have got to fulfill our part of the contract by putting out as much as we can on the football field. This may hurt our activities somewhat, but we attempt to learn as much from the University in all its phases as we can."

Pete Wasilewski almost never made it to GW. He was a stand-by for a scholarship already awarded to another boy who was

by Roger Stuart II

• THE COLONIAL GRIDDERS in their last two games have discovered a weakness even more disastrous than their loose pass defense—penalties.

Against the Citadel last week, the Buff handed their opponent almost three times as many yards through penalties than the Bulldogs gained in their rushing attack.

Last Saturday, it was the same story against the William and Mary Indians. Coach Bill Elias' team gave away 13 yards more in penalties than the Indians could muster on the ground.

Penalties Fatal

Against the Bulldogs last week, penalties didn't prove fatal, but against the Indians Saturday, the 83 yards assessed against the Colonials cost them the ball game.

During the first quarter, GW blazed with offensive fury. They outscored William and Mary 9-0.

In the same period, however, the Buff gave away two opportunities to scalp the Indians and run away with the contest. Twice the Colonials were within the William and Mary 25-yard line and knocking on touchdowns door, only to have a pair of 15-yard infractions knock both efforts haywire.

William and Mary's explosive offense which piled up a 31 point average in their first two games never really got uncorked to that degree against the Buff. But the Colonials got a taste of it in the second quarter when the Indians capitalized on GW's weak pass defense by travelling 58 yards on two pass plays, for a touchdown.

No Gain

Buff Halfback Tom Haly grabbed the ensuing kick-off on his own seven and returned the ball to the 31. Louie DeSimone lost a yard on the next play; Quarterback Frank Pazzaglia was thrown for a 10-yard loss on the next. Then Tony Fredicine picked up four yards. But with fourth down and 17 yards to go the Colonials punted to the William and Mary 48.

This time the Indians went the distance via the ground route; the extra point was broken up by GW and the score stood 13-9 in William and Mary's favor.

Indians Go Nowhere

After that the Indians couldn't get anywhere against the Buff defense until the final quarter. GW picked up two first downs in the third period and the Indians couldn't muster any.

The impasse continued until late in the fourth period when one of Pazzaglia's passes was intercepted on the Buff 41 and returned to the 12. The Indians ground out the rest of the yardage and the final score stood 19-9 in William and Mary's favor.

Sophomore Halfback Tony Fredicine, last week's leading ground gainer, was the Buff's most consistent ground gainer again on Saturday. He carried ten times for 27 yards, but this fell far below the 74 yards he contributed last week.

If Fredicine was the Colonials' best ground gainer, Sophomore Charlie Reed had to rate as the sparkplug in the Colonials' scoring against the Indians.

GW's only touchdown was virtually Reed's own product. He intercepted an Indian pass on the William and Mary 16. Chuck Packan completed an aerial to Reed who was dropped on the one. Then Pazzaglia handed off to Reed who bulled his way through for the score. The other GW score came when Tom Haly tackled an Indian back in the end zone for a safety.

The Colonials tried to mix up their offense Saturday and the result was indicated in the statistics. The Buff backs ground out 93 yards on the ground and collected 95 yards by the air route.

8 for 24

The three Colonial passers: Packan, Pazzaglia and Hardy passed 24 times and connected on eight. Pazzaglia, dubbed the best of the three in that division, only completed two of eleven attempts. But he wasn't quite warmed up after sitting out last week's game with a knee injury.

Packan connected on three of six attempts and Bill Hardy on three of seven.

If the Colonials can defeat at least one of their two big problems—penalties and a weak pass defense—they may prove that they're really a stronger team than the first three games indicate.

For short cuts...
for any style...

Makes your haircut fit your head!

No matter how you like your hair cut—you'll look better when you use Short Cut. This new, non-greasy hair groom adds body to the hair fibers, makes your haircut fit your head. Keeps hair neat, and helps condition your scalp into the bargain. Takes 2 seconds, costs a fast .50 plus tax.

EATON'S CORRASABLE BOND

Typewriter Paper

It's easy to flick off your mistakes on Eaton's Corrasable Bond. Make a pass with a pencil eraser and typing errors are gone—like magic—no error evidence left. Corrasable has an exceptional surface—erases without a trace. Once does it—there's no need to retype. Saves time; money, too. The perfect paper for perfection—erasable Corrasable.

Eaton's Corrasable Bond is available in light, medium, heavy weights and onion skin. In convenient 100-sheet packets and 500-sheet ream boxes. A Berkshire Typewriter Paper, backed by the famous Eaton name.
